 - Designed for Social Media Chapter Chairs
 - Assumes basic knowledge of Facebook, Twitter or Tumblr
- Social Media 101
 - Designed for social media beginners
 - “How To’s” can be found in the Action Kit section of the chapters only website (Facebook, Twitter, Tumblr and Hootsuite guides available)

- Don’t Worry
 - Learning social media takes time
 - You do not have to be perfect

Branding Your NOW Chapter

- Proper branding gives your chapter a:
 - Recognizable personality
 - Identity unique from National NOW and other area chapters
- To facilitate strong chapter branding, avoid using National NOW's logo; instead create your own chapter specific logo
 - Want help creating a chapter logo? Email: fieldorg@now.org for help
- Chapter logos should include:
 - Your chapter's name ("Philadelphia NOW")
 - Bright colors
 - Imagery highlighting your state or local area (see examples on the next slide)

Two Great Chapter Logo Examples

Facebook Best Practices

- Branding
 - Use chapter logo (again, email: fieldorg@now.org for help)
 - Create an organization page for your chapter- not your personal account
 - Include info about NOW and some info on your chapter
- Frequency
 - 3-4 posts a week
 - Follow other NOW chapters
- What to post
 - Photos and links -- tag people!
 - NO hashtags on Facebook
 - Avoid saying “like” or “share” in posted text- Facebook will ost your messages less (true story)
 - Make sure it’s fun and entertaining!

In this instance, National NOW did not raise the profile of this event effectively due to a weak post.

Twitter Best Practices

- Branding
 - Twitter handle and name should match
 - Chapter Twitter should only be used for chapter tweets
- Frequency and Timing
 - Use Followerwonk.com to figure out when your followers are on Twitter
 - Ideally 1-5 tweets per day- fewer tweets is fine, especially when you are just starting out
 - Frequency recommendations vary between scheduled and live tweeting
 - ✦ Note: If you are live tweeting an event, be sure to announce in a tweet at the onset
- Content to Post:
 - Thanks of tweets like a public text message
 - Using # and @
 - 112-114 optimal length for retweeting
 - Do not tweet a link without context- it looks like your account was hacked

. @SenRandPaul vows to hold up #JanetYellen nomination j.mp
/1gYPQe1  #ugh

 Hide summary

 Reply  Delete  Favorite  More

Why we like this tweet:

- Uses period before the @ symbol increases your tweet's audience
- Hashtag is used within the context of the tweet resourcefully using your limited characters
- Second hashtag (#ugh) is amusing- Twitter loves snarky
- It is fewer than 140 characters- ideal for manual retweeting
 - Manual retweets allow the retweeter to insert additional text

"Men's rights" movement is really just "a hate campaign against women." (TW: violence against women) j.mp/19QhW4J

Why we do not like this tweet:

- Does not use # or @ limiting the tweet's audience
- Too long decreasing likelihood of retweet
- Does not encourage action or engagement from audience
